

SPC COVID -19 Communication

5/8/20

It's here! Phase I reopening of North Carolina begins today at 5pm. Let's remain vigilant and do our part in social distancing and proper hygiene to keep the COVID new infection cases curve flattened so we can move to Phase II of reopening when the time comes.

We are preparing to reopen our offices and will notify all office staff as soon as we have our office protocol measures in place. For those coming back to an SPC office, things will be different. There will be a lot of new rules to follow regarding social distancing and work surface sanitization to name a few. We will not have thought of everything and encourage you to make recommendations for additional measures that you may notice. Remember, we are trying to protect each other.

We said this last week but want to say it again. Thanks to all our field staff. They have been on the front lines of this virus but continue to do their jobs in challenging and uncertain conditions. We know this has been difficult, and at times, scary.

Finally, Mother's Day is Sunday. We hope that all the SPC Moms have a great day. They have been so influential in their children's' lives. Remember to call your Mom. Have a great weekend. Remain Cautious, Stay Safe.
